FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY OF	:
PITTSBURGH PENNSYLVANIA,	:

-----X	:

J. PAUL OETKEN, District Judge:

Plaintiff Migdal Insurance Company, Ltd. (“Migdal”), brings this action against Defendant the Insurance Company of the State of Pennsylvania (“ICSOP”), for equitable contribution.¹ ICSOP counterclaims for a declaration that it is not liable for contribution. Both parties move for summary judgment under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56. For the reasons that follow, Migdal’s motion is granted and ICSOP’s motion is denied.

I. Background

Migdal wrote a general commercial liability insurance policy covering Kinetics Israel, Ltd. (“Kinetics Israel”), an Israeli engineering concern. ICSOP wrote a global-risk policy covering Kinetics, Inc. (“Kinetics”), the California-based company that owns Kinetics Israel. Both policy documents address the possibility that the insured carried other insurance. Migdal’s policy reads:

It is agreed that the cover under this policy constitutes primary cover and will apply before any similar cover which has been arranged by the insured under the Third Party Liability section of the policy in any other property and liability insurance arranged by the insured.

(Dkt. No. 50, Declaration of Andrew N. Bourne, Ex. 1. [“Migdal Policy”], at 20.)² ICSOP’s policy—which is reproduced in full as an appendix to this Opinion—states that its insurance is primary unless certain exceptions apply. (Appendix A, at 13; see also Dkt. No. 46, ICSOP’s Memorandum of Law in Support of its Motion for Summary Judgment [“ICSOP Support”], at 3.)³ The issue in this case is whether those exceptions apply.

In May 2004, employees of Kinetics Israel accidentally damaged equipment owned by Tower, Inc., another Israeli company. Migdal defended Kinetics Israel in the resulting Israeli lawsuit, and ultimately settled the action for $1.75 million and incurred 216,951 New Israeli Shekels (around $56,000) in defense costs. ICSOP did not participate in the Israeli action. In 2014, Migdal brought this suit seeking contribution from ICSOP. The parties agree that the Tower, Inc., accident is covered by both policies and that Migdal’s insurance is primary. The primary question is whether ICSOP’s policy is “excess” (meaning it does not pay until Kinetics, Inc.’s other insurance is exhausted), or “primary” (meaning it pays regardless).

II. Discussion

Migdal moves for summary judgment that it is entitled to contribution because ICSOP’s policy is not excess to Migdal’s; ICSOP moves for summary judgment that its policy is excess to Migdal’s. ICSOP also argues that Migdal is not entitled to summary judgment on the issue of damages. The Court discusses the legal standard governing the motions; briefly addresses the choice-of-law issue; analyzes the summary judgment motions regarding contribution; and, finally, discusses the summary judgment motion regarding damages.

A. Legal Standard

Summary judgment is appropriate when “there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.” FED. R. CIV. P. 56. A fact is material if it “might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law,” Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986), and a dispute is genuine if, considering the record as a whole, a rational jury could find in favor of the non-moving party, Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 587 (1986).

The initial burden of a movant on summary judgment is to provide evidence on each element of her claim or defense illustrating her entitlement to relief. Vermont Teddy Bear Co. v. 1-800 Beargram Co., 373 F.3d 241, 244 (2d Cir. 2004). If the movant meets this initial burden of production, the non-moving party must then identify specific facts demonstrating a genuine issue for trial. The court views all evidence “in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party and draw[s] all reasonable inferences in its favor.” Anderson, 447 U.S. at 250–51. A motion for summary judgment may be granted only if “no reasonable trier of fact could find in favor of the nonmoving party.” Allen v. Coughlin, 64 F.3d 77, 79 (2d Cir. 1995) (internal quotation marks omitted). But the non-moving party cannot rely upon mere “conclusory statements, conjecture, or speculation” to meet its burden. Kulak v. City of New York, 88 F.3d 63, 71 (2d Cir. 1996) (citing, inter alia, Matsushita, 475 U.S. at 587).

B. Choice of Law Revisited

For the reasons explained in the Court’s opinion denying ICSOP’s motion to dismiss, California law governs this dispute. See Migdal Ins. Co. v. Ins. Co. of Pennsylvania, No. 14 Civ. 700 (JPO), 2014 WL 5149128, at *2 (S.D.N.Y. Oct. 14, 2014). Nonetheless, Migdal contends that the Court need not actually decide whether California or New York law governs this dispute because “there are no conflicts between the laws of New York and California regarding the issues of equitable contribution raised by this action.” (Migdal Support, at 11.) As will become clearer later on, California’s rule—such as it is—does appear to differ significantly from New York’s. Compare, e.g., Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. Hartford Ins. Co. of Midwest, 25 A.D.3d 658, 662 (N.Y. App. Div. 2d Dep’t 2006) (quoting State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. LiMauro, 65 N.Y.2d 369, 375–376 (1985)), with, e.g., Fireman’s Fund Ins. Co. v. Maryland Cas. Co., 65 Cal. App. 4th 1279, 1306 (1st Dist. 1998) (quoting Armstrong World Industries, Inc. v. Aetna Casualty & Surety Co. 45 Cal. App. 4th 1, 52 (1st Dist. 1996)). Therefore, because this case involves the interpretation of an insurance policy covering global risk, this Court applies the law of the insured’s domicile: California. See Certain Underwriters at Lloyd’s, London v. Foster Wheeler Corp., 36 A.D.3d 17, 24 (N.Y. App. Div. 1st Dep’t 2006), aff’d, 9 N.Y.3d 928 (2007).⁴

C. Contribution

Equitable contribution⁵ claims arise when two insurers cover the same loss, but only one of them pays for it. The general principle is that when an insured has two insurers, her ordinarily ⁴ The principal issues in this case require the Court to consider the ICSOP policy, which covers the global risk of a California-based business and, therefore, falls within the rule that “where it is necessary to determine the law governing a liability insurance policy covering risks in multiple states, the state of the insured’s domicile should be regarded as a proxy for the principal location of the insured risk.” Certain Underwriters at Lloyd’s, London, 36 A.D.3d at 24. The Migdal policy, though, covers only Israeli risk. But the Court need not consider Israeli law because this case can be resolved by considering the meaning of only the ICSOP policy.

⁵ “It is hard to imagine another set of legal terms with more soporific effect than indemnity, subrogation, contribution, co-obligation and joint tortfeasorship. Perhaps because the words describe legal relationships between multiple parties, they are vaguely reminiscent of complex mathematical equations which, after all, also describe relationships, except in numbers rather than words—and for most of us, they are about as easy to understand. Even lawyers find words like ‘indemnity’ and ‘subrogation’ ring of an obscure Martian dialect.” Herrick Corp. v. Canadian Ins. Co., 29 Cal. App. 4th 753, 756 (4th Dist. 1994), as modified on denial of reh’g (Nov. 28, 1994).

fortuitous choice of whom to approach for payment should not determine who ultimately pays. But insurance companies, knowing this possibility, often include mutually irreconcilable “other insurance” clauses in their policies. CSE Ins. Grp. v. Northbrook Prop. & Cas. Co., 23 Cal. App. 4th 1839, 1842 (2d Dist. 1994). As the cases cited in the margin below demonstrate, reconciling these irreconcilable clauses has been a “recurring task” of the California Court of Appeal, id.; reconciling the cases that reconcile the clauses—the task of this Court—is impossible, id. at 1843 (“‘Excess-only’ provisions have often collided with ‘proration’ provisions, with results that cannot be harmonized.”).⁶

⁶ For a sample of these cases, see CSE Ins. Grp., 23 Cal. App. At 1843–44 (“*Pacific Employers Ins. Co. v. Broadly speaking, “other insurance” clauses fall into three categories. “One subcategory is known as ‘pro rata’ provisions, which look to limit the insurer’s liability to the total proportion that its policy limits bear to the total coverage available to the insured.” Commerce & Indus. Ins. Co. v. Chubb Custom Ins. Co., 75 Cal. App. 4th 739, 744 (1st Dist. 1999) (internal quotation marks omitted). Next are “‘excess only’ clauses, which require the exhaustion of other insurance” before any payments are available on the excess policy. Id. Finally, “‘escape’ clauses extinguish[] the insurer’s liability if the loss is covered by other insurance.” Id.; see also Olympic Ins. Co. v. Employers Surplus Lines Ins. Co., 126 Cal. App. 3d 593, 598 (1st Dist. 1981).

The California Supreme Court has “expressly decline[d] to formulate a definitive rule” for determining whether one insurance policy is excess to another. Signal Companies, Inc. v. Harbor Ins. Co., 27 Cal. 3d 359, 369 (1980). Instead, courts must weigh the “varying equitable considerations which may arise, and which affect the insured and the primary and excess carriers, and which depend upon the particular policies of insurance, the nature of the claim made, and the relation of the insured to the insurers.” Id. Although California courts generally honor the terms of a policy agreement where possible, e.g., Fireman’s Fund, 65 Cal. App. 4th at 1304, there are many exceptions to this rule, id., and, as such, “the modern trend is to require equitable contributions on a pro rata basis from all primary insurers regardless of the type of ‘other insurance’ clause in their policies.” Dart Indus., Inc. v. Commercial Union Ins. Co., 28 Cal. 4th 1059, 1080 (2002).

But that “trend” is not an immutable rule. See id. (declining to decide “[w]hether or not the above rule is universally applicable.”). Instead, in the absence of a strict rule from the said escape to an extent fully applicable in the particular case; held, the policies must prorate).” (citation format altered).)

California Supreme Court, the California Court of Appeal, in recent decisions, appears strictly to honor policy language only where that language renders the policy excess in certain, defined circumstances, and only where that language clearly provides that the insurance is excess. E.g., Hartford Cas. Ins. Co. v. Travelers Indem. Co., 110 Cal. App. 4th 710, 726 (1st Dist. 2003). The policy language is ineffective where it simply says something to the effect of “this insurance is excess over any other insurance you may have.” See, e.g., Fireman’s Fund, 65 Cal. App. 4th at 1304.

Comparing Hartford with Fireman’s Fund, a general principle emerges: policies are considered “excess” only when they declare themselves to be excess over specific other policies. California courts are suspicious of excess-only clauses because those clauses are similar to escape clauses, of which the California courts are exceedingly suspicious. Compare Hartford, 110 Cal. App. 4th at 726 (“Both policies declare themselves to be excess in the situation where the parties and the insurers are most likely to intend that result—when the insured is covered as an additional insured on another party’s policy for some specific event or situation. A clause that carves out this intended exception to primary coverage is not similar to an escape clause, where the insurer appears to offer coverage that in fact evaporates in the presence of other insurance.”), with Dart Indus., 28 Cal. 4th at 1080 (“[P]ublic policy disfavors escape clauses, whereby coverage purports to evaporate in the presence of other insurance. This disfavor should also apply, to a lesser extent, to excess-only clauses, by which carriers seek exculpation whenever the loss falls within another carrier’s policy limit.” (internal quotation marks and citations omitted)). Thus, where a policy is written in a manner suggesting that the insurer and the insured intended it to be excess coverage for a specific situation, courts will interpret it as such; where it appears as though the insurer included pro forma excess-only language, courts will disregard that language. See also Century Sur. Co. v. United Pac. Ins. Co., 109 Cal. App. 4th 1246, 1255 (2d Dist. 2003), as modified (June 25, 2003) (“‘[E]xcess’ insurance . . . is that secondary insurance which provides coverage after other identified insurance is no longer on the risk. The identification of the underlying primary insurance may be as to (1) a particular policy or policies that are specifically described or (2) underlying coverage provided by a particular and specifically described insurer. In short, excess insurance is insurance that is expressly understood by both the insurer and insured to be secondary to specific underlying coverage which will not begin until after that underlying coverage is exhausted and which does not broaden that underlying coverage.”) (citing Wells Fargo Bank v. California Ins. Guarantee Assn., 38 Cal. App. 4th 936, 940 (1st Dist. 1995)) (certain emphasis omitted).

ICSOP contends that its policy is excess to Migdal’s because of two provisions in ICSOP’s policy: subsection (b)(3), and a clause that ICSOP labels “the exhaustion clause.” (See generally ICSOP Support.) Subsection (b)(3) provides that the ICSOP insurance is “excess over . . . [a]ny other insurance or your self-insurance plan that that [sic] covers a loss on the same basis.” (See Appendix A, at 13.) The parties dispute what this clause means; Migdal argues that it refers only to self-insurance plans, while ICSOP contends that it covers insurance like Migdal’s. Even on ICSOP’s reading, however, the California Court of Appeal would not interpret subsection (b)(3) to make ICSOP’s policy excess over Migdal’s because, unlike the clause in Hartford, (b)(3) does not reference any other specific insurance over which, or any other specific situation in which, it might be excess. Thus, even assuming that ICSOP’s reading of the clause is correct, the California Court of Appeal would not enforce it against Migdal.

The context in which subsection (b)(3) appears supports this conclusion. Cf. Hartford, 110 Cal. App. 4th at 726. According to ICSOP, (b)(3) renders ICSOP’s policy excess to “[a]ny other insurance” (Appendix A, at 13 (emphasis added).) But ICSOP concedes that subsections (b)(1) and (b)(2) exempt specific types of other insurance. Thus, reading (b)(3) as ICSOP prefers would render (b)(1) and (b)(2) superfluous. In response, ICSOP argues that (b)(3) is not superfluous because Migdal's policy falls into (b)(3) but does not fall into (b)(1) or (b)(2). (See Migdal Opposition, at 12.) This argument rests on a mistaken negation. See, e.g., Steve Schwartz, Conditional Reasoning: Contrapositive, Mistaken Reversal, Mistaken Negation, LSAT BLOG, April 10, 2009, available at <http://lsatblog.blogspot.com/2009/04/conditional-reasoning-contrapositive.html>. Migdal's policy can fall within (b)(3) but without (b)(1) and (b)(2), even though (b)(3) contains (b)(1) and (b)(2), which are, therefore, superfluous. All beagles are dogs; not all dogs are beagles. ICSOP cannot point to a Chihuahua to prove that an insurance policy exempting both dogs and beagles is not superfluous.

ICSOP's logical error, though, does not show that its reading of the policy is wrong. But only two possibilities remain. Either subsection (b)(3) covers all other insurance and the Court of Appeal would not enforce it for the reasons discussed above, or (b)(3) is unclear—or, for that matter, does not cover the Migdal policy—and the Court of Appeal would not enforce it for that reason.

Regardless, this Court's ultimate task is to interpret the holdings of California's highest court. See MindGames, Inc. v. Western Pub. Co., 218 F.3d 652, 655–56 (7th Cir. 2000) (Posner, J.) (“The rule is that in a case in federal court in which state law provides the rule of decision, the federal court must predict how the state's highest court would decide the case, and decide it the same way.”); see also Broder v. Cablevision Sys. Corp., 418 F.3d 187, 199–200 (2d Cir. 2005) (holding that “[i]n the absence of any contrary . . . authority or other persuasive data establishing that the highest court of the state would decide otherwise,” a federal court must “follow the state law decisions of state intermediate appellate courts” (quoting Pentech Int'l, Inc. v. Wall St. Clearing Co., 983 F.2d 441, 445–46 (2d Cir. 1993)) (internal quotation marks and brackets omitted)). The holdings of the California Court of Appeal provide only persuasive evidence of what the California Supreme Court would do. And the last word from the California Supreme Court on the subject is that “the modern trend is to require equitable contributions on a pro rata basis from all primary insurers regardless of the type of ‘other insurance’ clause in their policies.” Dart Indus., 28 Cal. 4th at 1080 (emphasis added). Thus, the Court concludes that the California Supreme Court would not interpret subsection (b)(3) to render the ICSOP policy excess to the Migdal policy.⁷

Next, ICSOP argues that the exhaustion clause relieves it of liability in this case. The exhaustion clause reads: “[a]ll payments made under any local policy issued to you by us or any other insurance company will reduce the Limits of Insurance of this policy.” (ICSOP Support, at 11.) Migdal contends that the definition of “local underlying policy” found elsewhere in ICSOP’s document excludes the Migdal policy. (Migdal Reply, at 13). Although Migdal is correct that the definition of “local underlying policy” would not include the Migdal policy,⁸ that does not mean that Migdal’s policy is not a “local” policy. Nonetheless, even assuming ICSOP is correct that Migdal’s policy is covered by the exhaustion clause, there is no reason to believe

⁷ Because the California Supreme Court has not interpreted the clause at issue in this case, and because the court’s jurisprudence has been somewhat uncertain on questions of equitable contribution, e.g., Signal Companies, 27 Cal. 3d at 369, this Court would consider certifying the question. But the California Supreme Court cannot accept a certified question from this Court. See Cal. R. Ct. 8.548 (“On request of the United States Supreme Court, a United States Court of Appeals, or the court of last resort of any state, territory, or commonwealth, the [California] Supreme Court may decide a question of California law.”).

⁸ While on the subject of this particular definition, the Court notes that the “maintenance of underlying insurance” provision in the ICSOP policy—which provides that Kinetics must maintain coverage for those policies that have “been issued at our [ICSOP’s] direction or coordinated by us specifically for this insurance program”—strongly suggests that ICSOP did not consider its insurance excess to the Migdal policy. Contra Century Sur. Co. v. United Pac. Ins. Co., 109 Cal. App. 4th at 1255. If ICSOP had considered its insurance excess to Migdal’s, it would have explicitly included the Migdal policy in this provision. The fact that ICSOP now attempts to make a distinction between “local underlying policies,” which do not include Migdal’s, and “local polic[ies],” which do include Migdal’s, is therefore puzzling.

that the result sought by Migdal is inconsistent with that clause. Indeed, the presence of Migdal's policy has "reduce[d]" the "[l]imits" of the ICSOP policy by roughly 50%. This clause does not relieve ICSOP of all its liability. Instead it is, at best, a pro-rata clause requiring ICSOP to share liability with other insurers of the same risk.

D. ICSOP's Fair Share

Finally, ICSOP contends that summary judgment cannot be granted because it is unclear whether the Israeli settlement resolved only Tower, Inc.'s claims against Migdal or resolved other liabilities as well. The settlement agreement purports to resolve the "claim" at issue in that suit, which is defined as the "Statement of Claim (C.F. 1527/08) against Defendants in the District Court of Tel Aviv." (ICSOP Support, at 12.) "Defendants" in that action referred to both Kinetics Israel and Migdal. Thus, ICSOP contends, there is no way of knowing how much of the settlement payment was meant to extinguish Kinetics Israel's liability (which would be covered by the ICSOP policy) and how much was meant to extinguish Migdal's own liability as Tower's first party insurer (which would not be covered). Similarly, ICSOP contends that there is no way of knowing what portion of Migdal's attorney's fees in the Israeli action were attributable to its own liability to Tower. Migdal, on the other hand, contends that the settlement was intended to resolve only Migdal's derivative liability and that all attorney's fees were devoted to that liability only.

The Court is persuaded that these disputes are not genuine. At oral argument on these motions, ICSOP conceded that Migdal has put forth evidence to support its claim that the whole settlement amount was meant to resolve covered claims. (See, e.g., Dkt. No. 47-8, at 2.) ICSOP, in turn, produced only the Israeli complaint to support its contention that part of the settlement could have been intended to settle non-covered claims. (E.g., ICSOP Support, at 12.) But it could not identify any basis for a reasonable juror to believe that Migdal had any independent liability to Tower under their first-party insurance contract, or that any portion of the settlement amount was in fact for anything other than the (covered) negligence of Kinetics Israel, which was the basis for the litigation. Therefore, no reasonable juror could conclude that Migdal paid anything in order to settle any non-derivative claim against it. For the same reason, then, no reasonable juror could conclude that any portion of the attorney's fees Migdal paid in the Israeli action were devoted to the defense of these claims.⁹

ICSOP's fair share, then, is half of the settlement amount ($875,000) plus half of the attorney's fees (108,475.50 New Israeli Shekels¹⁰).

III. Conclusion

For the foregoing reasons, Migdal's motion for summary judgment is GRANTED and ICSOP's motion for summary judgment is DENIED. Counsel for Migdal shall submit a proposed judgment within 14 days.

⁹ ICSOP contends that the declarations of Migdal's Israeli counsel are inadmissible because they are not based on personal knowledge. But Migdal need only show that it could provide admissible evidence to support its claims. It has clearly done so.

¹⁰ Although neither party addresses the question of the exchange rate, the Court notes that judgment should issue in New Israeli Shekels and be converted into dollars on the day the judgment issues. Compare Vishipco Line v. Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A., 660 F.2d 854, 867 (2d Cir. 1981) (holding that in diversity cases "we are bound to apply" New York's rule), with N.Y. Judiciary L. § 27 ("In any case in which the cause of action is based upon an obligation denominated in a currency other than currency of the United States, a court shall render or enter a judgment or decree in the foreign currency of the underlying obligation. Such judgment or decree shall be converted into currency of the United States at the rate of exchange prevailing on the date of entry of the judgment or decree.").

The Clerk of the Court is directed to close the motions at docket numbers 45 and 49.

- (1) How, when and where the occurrence or offense took place;
- (2) The names and addresses of any injured persons and witnesses; and
- (3) The nature and location of any injury or damage arising out of the occurrence or offense

Notice of an occurrence or offense is not notice of a claim.

- b If a claim is made or suit is brought against any insured, you must.

- (1) Immediately record the specifics of the claim or suit and the date received; and
- (2) Notify us as soon as practicable.

You must see to it that we receive written notice of the claim or suit as soon as practicable

- c You and any other involved insured must:

- (1) Immediately send us copies of any demands, notices, summonses or legal papers received in connection with the claim or suit;

- b To sue us on this Coverage Part unless all of its terms have been fully complied with

A person or organization may sue us to recover on an agreed settlement or on a final judgment against an insured, but we will not be liable for damages that are not payable under the terms of this Coverage Part or that are in excess of the applicable limit of insurance. An agreed settlement means a settlement and release of liability signed by us, the insured and the claimant or the claimant's legal representative

- (d) If the loss arises out of the maintenance or use of aircraft, autos or watercraft to the extent not subject to Exclusion g. of Section I - Coverage A Bodily Injury And Property Damage Liability

- (3) Any of the other insurance or your self-insurance plan that covers a loss on the same basis

4 Other Insurance

If other valid and collectible insurance is available to the insured for a loss we cover under Coverages A or B of this Coverage Part, our obligations are limited as follows:

a Primary Insurance

This insurance is primary except when b below applies. If this insurance is primary, our obligations are not affected unless any of the other insurance is also primary. Then, we will share with all that other insurance by the method described in c below.

When this insurance is excess, we will have no duty under Coverages A or B to defend the insured against any suit if any other insurer has a duty to defend the insured against that suit. If no other insurer defends, we will undertake to do so, but we will be entitled to the insured's rights against all those other insurers

b. Excess Insurance

This insurance is excess over:

- (1) Any of the other insurance, whether primary, excess, contingent or on any other basis:

When this insurance is excess over other insurance, we will pay only our share of the amount of the loss, if any, that exceeds the sum of

- (a) That is Fire, Extended Coverage, Builders' Risk, Installation Risk or similar coverage for your work,

- (1) The total amount that all such other insurance would pay for the loss in the absence of this insurance, and

- (b) That is Fire insurance for premises rented to you or temporarily

- (2) The total of all deductible and self-insured amounts under all that other insurance.

We will share the remaining loss, if any, with any other insurance that is not described in this Excess Insurance provision and was not bought specifically to apply in excess of the Limits of Insurance shown in the Declarations of this Coverage Part

c Method of Sharing

If all of the other insurance permits contribution by equal shares, we will follow this method also. Under this approach each insurer contributes equal amounts until it has paid its applicable limit of insurance or none of the loss remains, whichever comes first.

If any of the other insurance does not permit contribution by equal shares, we will contribute by limits. Under this method, each insurer's share is based on the ratio of its applicable limit of insurance to the total applicable limits of insurance of all insurers.

d Difference in Conditions

When the insurance provided by this policy has broader coverage than any other policy available to you covering the same loss, the insurance afforded by this policy will apply to the extent that any coverage or condition herein is less restrictive to you than are the terms and conditions afforded under that other policy

5 Maintenance of Underlying Insurance

For as long as this policy is in effect all local underlying policies must:

- a Continuously provide no less coverage than in effect at inception of this policy; and
- b Afford no lower Limits of Insurance than in effect at inception of this policy, except for reduction or exhaustion of primary limits solely due to payment of losses.

This policy shall apply as though such policies had been maintained in force at the terms and conditions at inception of this policy.

6 Premium Audit

- a We will compute all premiums for this Coverage Part in accordance with our rules and rates.
- b Premium shown in this Coverage Part as advance premium is a deposit premium only. At the close of each audit period we will compute the earned premium for that period. Audit premiums are due and payable on notice to the first Named Insured. If the sum of the advance and audit premiums paid for the policy period is greater than the earned premium, we will return the excess to the first Named Insured
- c. The first Named Insured must keep records of the information we need for premium computation, and send us copies at such times as we may request.

7. Representations

By accepting this policy, you agree:

- a. The statements in the Declarations are accurate and complete;
- b. Those statements are based upon representations you made to us; and

- a As if each Named Insured were the only Named Insured, and
- b Separately to each insured against whom claim is made or suit is brought

9 Transfer Of Rights Of Recovery Against Others To Us

If the insured has rights to recover all or part of any payment we have made under this Coverage Part, those rights are transferred to us. The insured must do nothing after loss to impair them. At our request, the insured will bring suit or transfer those rights to us and help us enforce them

10 When We Do Not Renew

If we decide not to renew this Coverage Part, we will mail or deliver to the first Named Insured shown in the Declarations written notice of the nonrenewal not less than 30 days before the expiration date.

If notice is mailed, proof of mailing will be sufficient proof of notice

11. Cancellation

- a The first Named Insured shown in the Declarations may cancel this policy by mailing or delivering to us advance written notice of cancellation.
- b. We may cancel this policy by mailing or delivering to the first Named Insured written notice of cancellation at least:

reason.

- c. We will mail or deliver our notice to the first Named Insured's last mailing address known to us.
- d. Notice of cancellation will state the effective date of cancellation. The policy period will end on that date
- e. If this policy is canceled, we will send the first Named Insured any premium refund due. If we cancel, the refund will be pro rata. If the first Named Insured cancels, the refund may be less than pro rata. If the first Named Insured cancels and the Total Advance Program Premium is indicated as a minimum premium, no refund will be made. The cancellation will be effective even if we have not made or offered a refund.
- f. If notice is mailed, proof of mailing will be sufficient proof of notice

12 Changes

This policy contains all the agreements between you and us concerning the insurance afforded. The first Named Insured shown in the Declarations is authorized to make changes in the terms of this policy with our consent. This policy's terms can be amended or waived only by endorsement issued by us and made a part of this policy.

13 Examination of Your Books and Records

We may examine and audit your books and records as they relate to this policy at any time during the policy period and up to three years afterward.

14 Inspections and Surveys

- a. We have the right to.
 - (1) make inspections and surveys at any time,
 - (2) give you reports on the conditions we find; and
 - (3) recommend changes
- b. We are not obligated to make any inspections, surveys, reports or recommendations, and such actions we do make relate only to insurability and the premiums to be charged. We do not make safety inspections. We do not undertake to perform the duty of any person or organization to provide for the health or safety of workers or the public. And, we do not warrant that conditions:

- (1) are safe or healthful; or
- (2) comply with laws, regulations, codes or standards.

- f. Paragraph b. of this condition does not apply to any inspections, surveys, reports or recommendations we may make relative to certification, under state or municipal statutes, ordinances or regulations, of boilers, pressure vessels or elevators

15 Premiums

The first Named Insured shown in the Declarations

- a. is responsible for the payment of all premiums, and
- b. will be the payee for any return premiums we pay

16 Transfer of Your Rights and Duties Under This Policy

Your rights and duties under this policy may not be transferred without our written consent except in the case of death of an individual Named Insured.

If you die, your rights and duties will be transferred to your legal representative, but only while acting within the scope of duties as your legal representative. Until your legal representative is appointed, anyone having proper temporary custody of your property will have your right and duties, but only with respect to that property.
